Rustle, bustle and squeak

Tracks and trails challenge sheet

This Challenge Sheet contains three activities which will encourage you to venture outdoors and explore what is happening, as well as providing you with some ideas for nature related indoor activities. As always, these can be adapted and enjoyed by a group as a six, patrol or unit, or by individuals working alone.

A special badge has been created to accompany this Challenge Sheet and is earned by completing one of the activities. The badge is available to buy from the Region's online shop and can be added as a body segment to your Rustle, Bustle & Squeak Caterpillar.

- Cumulus or stratus clouds
- Water – moving or frozen
- Insects

Activity

Animal Tracks

Collect Animal Footprints. • Fill an old baking tray with damp sand and smooth out the surface with a ruler • Test the surface by seeing whether your fingers leave a mark • Place hedgehog food, or a meaty cat or dog food in a low sided dish in the middle of the tray • Leave the tray out overnight in a garden or outside your meeting place and check in the morning for footprints left by animal visitors

The RSPB's 'Kids and Schools' website gives easy to follow instructions on how to make plaster casts of animal tracks. You can also download a free poster displaying different animal tracks which can be seen in winter.

Paint a Butterfly

Remind yourself of summer by making a butterfly painting. • Fold a piece of sugar paper in half, side to side, and open it out • Using water-based paints, paint the shape of one set of butterfly wings on one half of the paper • Re-fold the paper following the original crease line and press it down • Open out the paper and add more colours to one side, then re-fold and press • When the butterfly wings are dry, add a body and antennae with a marker pen
